Dan McLean (Communities First party)

danmcleancalgary.ca

McLean has been the councillor for Ward 13 since 2021, when he unseated longtime incumbent councillor Diane Colley-Urquhart. Before being elected, McLean launched and ran a golf cart business called McLean Golf. He also volunteered for conservative political campaigns on both the federal and provincial levels. McLean is pledging to stop "out of control spending" at city hall, change the leadership of city administration and reverse blanket rezoning, which he describes as "lazy planning."

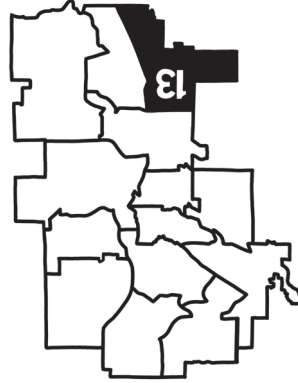

Elliot Weinstein (The Calgary Party)

elliottweinstein.ca

Weinstein is a local entrepreneur who opened The Beach YYC, an indoor volleyball facility near Crossroads Market, in 2018. Weinstein ran for the federal Liberals in the 2023 Calgary Heritage by-election, placing second behind Shivaloy Majumdar. Prior to opening his own business, Weinstein was a project manager at Golder Associates. He wants to promote entrepreneurship in Ward 13 and ensure city hall invests "more in our sports and recreation facilities." Weinstein also says "transportation options must be available to anyone," no matter how they get around.

Every four years Calgarians elect a new city council. On October 20, 2025, voters choose a mayor, city councillors and school board trustees. Calgary's electoral system is divided into 14 regions, or wards, across the city. Each city councillor represents a specific ward. The duties of city councillors are spelled out in Alberta's Municipal Government Act. Councillors are tasked with "developing and evaluating" policies and programs while also considering "the welfare and interests of the municipality as a whole."
